Mrs. Abbott Fox Of Iron Mountain Dead

(By The Associated Press)

An 86-year-old woman apparently struck down and killed by a hit-run driver while on her way to church in Burlington Sunday night was one of Michigan's 13 fatal accident victims this week-end.

Eleven persons were killed in traffic. An elderly man in Sturgis slipped on ice and suffered fatal injuries, and a Detroit man's chest was crushed when his car slipped off a back while he was working underneath it.

Lumberman Injured

The Burlington victim was Mrs. Thelma Gifford. Her body was found on M-60 in Branch county a short time after she set out for the evening church service. She was dead when she reached Coldwater health center.

Another hit-run victim was Stanley A. Siczynski, 30, of Center Line, whose body was found Sunday on the Willow Run expressway in Dearborn.

Two traffic collisions claimed two lives each.

Mrs. Abbott M. Fox, 49, of Iron Mountain, and Ellsworth La Beau, of Republic, were injured fatally Sunday in a two-car crash west of Ishpeming in the Upper Peninsula. Fox, a well known lumberman, and three others were injured.

Young Couple Killed

A young couple, 18-year-old Louise Vinegar of Inkster and Rubin Tall, 21, of Romulus, were killed Friday night when their auto crashed into a utilities pole in Ecorse township of Wayne county. Wayneard Shreve, 20, driver of the car, was held by police for questioning.

Robert A. Beggs, 33, of Flint, was killed and four other persons were hurt when his car and an auto driven by John M. Burns of River Rouge crashed head-on on US-10 near Waterford Saturday night. Burns suffered a skull fracture.

Thirteen-year-old William Burwell Sellers, of Orion, lost his life Saturday when he darted into the path of a car on US-27 near his home. He had been watching a truck accident.

Ranks Of Reds Split In Italy

Communists Quitting
Party By Scores

ROME — (AP)—New scores of Communists today were reported turning in their party cards as the split in Italy's powerful Red ranks widened across the country.

From Gravina, Apulia, press reports said 220 Communists and pro-Red Socialists handed their party cards to the local secretary of the Christian Democrat (anti-Red government) party. The reports said all asked to join the Christian Democrats.

The group included members of the Communist-dominated general confederation of labor (CGIL) and the Red sponsored national partisans association.

Nine Communist party members handed their cards to the Christian Democrat secretary in Calabria, Southern Italy. They said they "did not want to belong to organizations sponsoring the invasion of Italy by Soviet troops."

The rift in the ranks of the Italian Communist party — biggest this side of the iron curtain — developed with the resignations on Jan. 26 of Communist deputies Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cuccchi in Northern Italy.

The two deputies quit because their fellow Communists would not declare opposition to invasion of Italian soil by Soviet Russia.

Way Sought To Boost Liquor Taxes Without Boosting Bootleggers

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON — (AP)—House tax writers sought advice today on how a big boost in liquor taxes can be put into effect without touching off an era of bootlegging and rum-running.

Some members of the House Ways and Means committee have said they fear a widespread increase in illicit liquor-making and sales if Secretary of the Treasury's plans are adopted.

Harder To Enforce

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said the enforcement problem was the reason for calling deputy commissioner Carroll Mealey of the government's alcohol tax unit for testimony today.

"Heavier liquor taxes may very likely make collections much more difficult to enforce," Doughton said. "I think it will depend on how closely we can keep after the moonshiners. It may be that we will have to have a great many more enforcement officers."

Snyder has proposed boosting the tax on whisky from $9 to $12 a gallon, on beer from $8 to $12 a barrel, and various increases for types of wines. The secretary estimated the added levies would raise $710,000,000 toward the administration's $16,500,000,000 tax goal.

Bathtub Gin Again

Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.) is among committee members feeling that higher liquor taxes will encourage moonshiners, bootleggers and smugglers on the theory tax evasions become all the more lucrative.

"This kind of tax is going to stimulate bathtub gin again," he protested. "It'll bring back the

Youth, 16, Tries $32,000 Spree

Chicago Boy Stopped
In Texas By FBI

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (AP)—It was the U. S. commissioner's turn today to hear the story of a 16-year-old Chicago youth that he took an aunt's $32,000 savings on a spending spree to the country where men still carry guns.

The aunt, Mrs. Cora Andrews, a Chicago hotel operator, refused to sign a complaint against chunky, 185-pound James Walter Miller. However, the FBI said he would be arraigned here today on a federal charge of interstate transportation of stolen property over $5,000.

Miller was picked up Saturday at a dude ranch near Bandera, west of here. He had $29,840 left of his aunt's money after a lavish journey with a Dallas cab driver as his terrified and unwilling guest.

Even without his aunt's money, Chicago police said, Miller has a $3,500 account in a Chicago bank and $35,000 in a trust set up for him by a grandmother.

In Dallas, cab driver C. F. Murphy, who spent 60 hours "playing" Charlie McCarthy for a gun-happy kid with $32,000 to blow" quit his job yesterday.

"I don't want to meet any more passengers like that," said the 28-year-old Purple Heart veteran of World War II. "so I'm going back to painting cars."

Convict Digs 70-Foot Tunnel At Baltimore

Burglar, 39, Makes
Fantastic Escape

BALTIMORE — (AP)—A 39-year-old convict wormed his way to freedom early yesterday through a twisting 70-foot tunnel from his cell to the unrestricted side of the massive state penitentiary wall.

He's still at large today. Joseph Holmes, "the dinner-time burglar" of the '30s, was credited by Warden Edwin T. Jensen with "the most fantastic escape I've ever heard of." He was serving the 10th year of a 20-year sentence.

The warden said it must have taken Holmes two years to dig his way out.

Starts Under Bunk

A slender, rather light figure, Holmes started his tunnel under his bunk. He carefully lifted out a piece of slate about two feet square from the floor. Then he hit cement.

Piece by piece, he chipped away the cement, apparently working only between 5 p. m. and 10 p. m. when the loud speaker system blared out radio programs. This covered up the sound of his scraping and probing.

After 10 inches of this, he struck dirt. Then the real excavating began.

He disposed of the material scooped up with scrap iron he had smuggled in by flushing it down his toilet. With no apparent implements, this meant he had to carry the dirt—trip by trip—in his clothing.

Melts Into Darkness

He angled down almost vertically about 10 feet, then angled toward the wall. Ten to 15 feet farther he ran into a small cavern, hollowed out either by a spring or the overflow from an

Joe Stalin's Blast At U. N. Backfires

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Diplomatic officials predicted today that Premier Stalin's blast at the United Nations and the free world generally will backfire in three ways.

These authorities speculated that it may have these effects:

1. To tighten up, rather than divide, the west in its determination to build military strength against Soviet expansion because, despite his avowals of seeking peace, the overall tone of what Stalin said was tough and uncompromising.

The first concrete reaction along this line is expected to be quick western agreement on a note to Moscow calling on the Russians to say if they are willing to hold big four talks on the real causes of world tension.

People May Wake Up

2. Inside Russia where Stalin's words are universally read, heard and debated for months or years, his descriptions of the array of nations against the Communist bloc—though not so intended—may give the Russian people a new idea of what they are up against.

The state department's reply Saturday night, mildly denouncing the Stalin comments as "misstatement," expressed hope that Stalin's attack on the United Nations and all U. N. members who voted against the Communists in Korea will awaken the Soviet people to the dangerous road down which they are being led.

3. Stalin's personal prestige has now become involved in Russia's diplomatic and propaganda battle more directly than ever before. Previously he had held aloof from the East-West conflict in most of his public pronouncements.

Leads With His Chin

The state department opened an attack on this point last night. Its "Voice of America" began telling the world Stalin had taken over from "puppets and stooges" the task of propagandizing the world with "fake charges and claims."

The "Voice" broadcast added that Stalin "has now put himself on record and on trial before the world by lending his own name to the Soviet deception."

The mere fact that the official mouthpiece of American government would make such a personal thrust at the chief of the Soviet state showed both the government's estimate of the extent of which Stalin had led with his chin and the advanced state of deterioration in relations between the Soviet Union and the United States.

RED BOSS AILING — Reliable sources in Hong Kong reported that Mao Tze-tung, boss of the Chinese Communists, was stricken by a heart attack as the result of overwork and the strain of the Korean crisis. Allied Attacks Kill Hundreds Of Communists

Badly Mauled Reds
Quit Battle Line

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO — (AP)—Counter-attacks by Americans smashed four miles into the heart of a Korean Red stronghold in East-Central Korea today. Hundreds of Communists were killed.

On the Central and Western fronts, the badly mauled Chinese withdrew from the battlelines.

Massed At Parallel 38
Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said his allied forces had won a decisive victory on these fronts. But he said the Chinese Reds have enough massed troops to prevent a successful allied crossing north of Parallel 38 if the Reds commit them.

U. N. troops established a small bridgehead on the north bank of the Han river five miles east of Seoul but were driven back by Red mortar and machinegun fire.

The Allies advanced all along the western front, as much as four miles in some areas. Their lines were jammed solidly up to the south bank of the Han near the ruins of the Korean capital.

The action on the east-central front was developing at two points north of Chechon, key highway and rail center 20 air miles southeast of Wonju.

A. P. correspondent Tom Stone reported a task force, rolling behind heavy artillery barrages and fighter-bomber strikes, punched four miles northward to within one mile of Chechon.

Chechon is 10 miles north of Chechon.

Enemy Push Falls
A. P. correspondent Stan Swinton reported that the other American counter-attack recaptured a bitterly-defended mile of a wedge driven by the Reds into the Chechon front last week.

This action covered a two and one-half mile front about six miles due north of Chechon. By nightfall the doughboys had captured.

Crime Quiz Clicks As Hoodlums Duck Contempt Charges

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senate crime probes looked today to hit pay dirt. Three once-reluctant witnesses said they were ready to talk; the committee gave them a forum.

Threatened with possible contempt of Congress charges, Alfred "Big Al" Polizzi; Harry (Nig) Rosen, alias Harry Stromberg and Willie Weisberg asked for another chance. They were called to testify at the public hearing.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) of the crime committee said the trio had indicated they desire to purge themselves of contempt citations. They had refused to answer some questions at earlier hearings on the grounds the answers might tend to incriminate them.

Conviction for contempt of Congress carries penalties ranging up to a year in jail and up to $1,000 fine.

Polizzi was questioned at a committee hearing in Cleveland on Jan. 18. Rosen and Weisberg declined to answer numerous questions when the senators conducted a closed door probe last October into Philadelphia's numbers racket.

Russia Invited To Big 4 Meeting In Paris March 5

By EDWARD CURTIS

LONDON — (AP)—Britain, the United States and France proposed to Russia today a meeting of deputy foreign ministers in Paris March 5 as a first step toward four-power talks on disputes between the east and west.

The western big three's proposal was made in almost identical notes to the Kremlin.

A foreign office spokesman said British ambassador to Moscow, Sir David Kelly, was scheduled to give the British note to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vyshinsky this afternoon.

The texts of the three western notes are expected to be released for publication tomorrow.

Mock Raid To Test Soo Locks Defenses

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. — (AP)—A mock raid on the vital Sault locks will test the state's readiness for atomic attack, Gov. Williams said here Sunday.

In a recorded radio broadcast over station WSOO, the governor outlined objectives of the make-believe air attack to be carried out here April 16.

"We are trying to find out by a practical method what is needed in the nature of civil defense," Gov. Williams said.

"We must reach as quickly as possible what I call a state of complete readiness on a limited basis," he added.

The Sault test, he declared, is designed to show just how civil defense measures will operate under emergency conditions.

In the raid a mock atomic bomb will be dropped near the city limits. The Soo locks also will be damaged by explosives dropped by "enemy" planes. "Friendly" planes, guided by ground observer posts, will drive off the invaders.

Governor Williams said it is presumed the raid would put most city facilities out of action. Loss of life would depend on how much blood and other supplies were made available within 12 hours.

Governor Williams paid tribute to the Sault Ste. Marie defense organization for its work in the mass blood typing program now going on in the Soo and Chippewa counties.

So far almost 15,000 persons have been typed with only one error recorded, the governor said.

Woolen Mills Are Picketed

Demand For 15-Cent
Pay Boost Pushed

BOSTON — (AP)—Picket reinforcements were ordered out today as a strike of 70,000 CIO Wool and Worsted Workers went into its fourth day to enforce a demand for a 15-cent-an-hour pay boost.

Marchers were scheduled to picket 160 mills in New England and about six other states in the east and south in the first industry-wide stoppage in the 11-year history of the Textile Workers of America (CIO).

The strike started Friday after New York contract negotiations were broken off by union chiefs and heads of the American Woolen company, traditional wage pattern maker for the industry.

The union said average hourly wage at present is $1.42.

Other benefits sought by the TWUA include a six cents an hour annual increase and quarterly cost of living adjustments.

The National Association of Wool Manufacturers said in a statement that what the union is asking would cost "from 50 to 60 cents an hour."

Boat Capsizes Off Golden Gate; 3 Drown

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)—Six men were feared drowned in the second boat capsizing in 15 days in treacherous waters off San Francisco's Golden Gate.

A coast guard helicopter plucked 55-year-old George J. Monaco of San Francisco out of the water. He is the only known survivor of the fishing boat Joane which keeled over yesterday in heavy breakers.

Trainmen Plead Guilty To Court Contempt Charges

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen pleaded guilty to contempt of court today in the recent "sick" strikes in rail yards and was fined $75,000.

Federal Judge Edward A. Tamm ordered the fine in U. S. district court here immediately after the surprise plea.

He said he was fining the union $50,000 for criminal contempt as a "punitive" penalty for the strikes which occurred despite army operation of the railroads.

The other $25,000 for civil contempt was intended to compensate the government for the cost of bringing the legal proceedings against the union.

W-C TO USE DC-3 PLANES—Here is one of the new de luxe DC-3 airliners the Wisconsin Central Airlines will place into service on March 1. The inaugural flight will be marked by ceremonies in the various cities on the route. Newsmen, officials and celebrities will be present and participate in these ceremonies.

DC-3 Planes To Replace Lockheeds on W-C Lines

The first two DC-3's of a proposed fleet of nine "workhorses of the air" will begin operations March 1 on eight Wisconsin Central Airline flights, signaling a major step in the airline's operation.

The 21-passenger DC-3's, modified for short-haul, short-stop operations required on Wisconsin Central's local service routes, will replace the nine-passenger Lockheed 10A's which have given way to the demand for increased passenger service. Wisconsin Central operates a feeder line which serves passenger, mail and property over routes in Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, Minnesota and Northern Illinois. Conversion to the 21-passenger DC-3's on all flights will be completed by May 1 when Wisconsin Central expects to retire its present fleet of Lockheed 10A's.

Escanaba On Route
Cities to be served with the larger equipment include Minneapolis-St. Paul, Eau Claire-Chippewa Falls, Wausau, Stevens Point-Wisconsin Rapids, Clintonville, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Milwaukee-Chicago, Janesville-Beaumont, Madison, Menominee-Marquette, Iron Mountain-Kingsford, Escanaba, Marquette-Negaunee-Ishpeming, and Houghton-Hancock. Other cities on the airline system will be served with DC-3 equipment as rapidly as the larger equipment is modified for local airline service.

Equipped for Safety
The DC-3's will carry special electronic safety and navigational devices, including radar, dual automatic finders, static-free radio transmitters and receivers, as well as long-distance, high-frequency radio transmitters and receivers, and fan marker beacon radio receivers.

In addition to the finest navigational equipment on the DC-3's will be a terrain indicator—a safety device operating on the principle of radar which enables pilots to note changes in the altitude of the earth's contour.

Doors on the DC-3's, hydraulically controlled, will open to form ramps, providing for quicker loading and unloading of passengers. Other special features on the planes will be dual instrument panels, quick-acting landing gear, rapid accelerating engines, quick loading and unloading cargo compartments, self-service baggage racks, oxygen systems for both crew and passengers, complete inter-phone system for flight personnel and spacious reclining lounge seats for passengers.

Has "Workhorse" Reputation
The twin-engine Douglas DC-3, which earned its "workhorse" reputation during World War II as the Air Force C-47, first took to the air in 1935. Since that time, the plane has made more flights and carried more people than any other airplane on earth.

When the C-47 was converted from its wartime use to commercial aviation it carried on its famed military reputation as a "workhorse." Today, some 110 certificated, scheduled air lines in the world use two or more DC-3's. The DC-3 has been commended by no less a military expert than Gen. Dwight Eisenhower who called it "one of the four most valuable weapons of the war."

An unofficial estimate of the number of DC-3's flying today—both commercial and military flights—is placed at about 6,000.

Columbus, a little-known metal, withstands heat up to 1,600 degrees Fahrenheit.

Ice Show Seen By 6,000 Here

Revue Rated One Of Best Produced

Approximately 6,000 persons saw the 1951 Ice Varieties presented at the indoor rink in the U. P. Fairgrounds building Feb. 14-18, Arthur H. Petersen, recreation director, said today.

Attendance was about the same as in previous years. Sunday afternoon 1400 persons packed the stands for the final performance. Poorest attendance at the ice show was last Friday night, when roads were icy because of a sleet storm.

Adult skaters and members of committees for the ice show were feted at a banquet at the Dells last night. One hundred-three persons attended. Later this week a party for youngsters participating in the 12th annual ice show will be held at Club 314.

The city of Marquette requested early this month that the Escanaba ice show be presented in that city, but later cancelled the request because there was insufficient time for publicizing the event. Marquette has indicated that it definitely wants the Escanaba ice show there next year.

The 1951 Ice Varieties has been rated by many patrons, and the cast and directors as the best produced thus far.

Rain Floods Escanaba Street Corners

Mild weather with rain and melting snow over the weekend marked a break in winter temperatures and flooded many street intersections in Escanaba with water six to eight inches deep.

About one-quarter inch of rain fell in Escanaba and city street crews were busy yesterday and today opening catch basins at corners so the flood waters would drain away. Frozen ice and snow hampered the work. So far no basements have been reported flooded.

Skating Rinks Hit
The U. S. Weather Bureau in Escanaba reported the outlook for tomorrow as cloudy with not much change in temperature. There may be some occasional very light snow.

A long-range forecast indicates rather mild, damp weather for the ensuing 30 days, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau in Washington, D. C.

The mild weather hit all outdoor skating rinks in the city and the recreation department announced that efforts will be made to keep open the indoor rink at the fair grounds and the Royce Park rink—if temperatures are sufficiently low to hold the ice. All other outdoor rinks will be abandoned for the season.

Nationwide Cancels
Main trunklines and county roads were in good condition, but side roads were slushy in the country. There was no bad flooding on the roads.

The heavy snow blanket that came early last winter has prevented the frost from penetrating deep into the ground and it is expected that the spring break-up will not be as severe as last spring, when county roads were hard hit. Unfrozen ground will permit the water to drain away without excessive flooding. Nationwide Airlines Lockheed plane, which has made daily round

Henry Morgan Is TV Success

Does Much Better Than In Radio

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—Henry Morgan, a man with a chronic case of built-in irreverence, never seemed to settle comfortably into radio as a medium, but recently has appeared happily at home in television, an art form which baffled his alter ego, Fred Allen.

It is the end of a long and devious trail. Morgan has finally found a mirror in which his talents as a knocker need no contrived distortion. There are so many things to criticize funnily in television that Henry merely is constrained to play it straight for laughs.

Anybody with an aerial knows that a great deal of our newest entertainment gadget depends heavily on the clumsy talent show, the quiz, the zany forum, the stuffy panel, the off-the-cuff converse. Possibly as antidote to the seriousness of the times and of the basic worries of the ordinary Joe, we have achieved a golden age of idiosyncrasy in TV entertainment.

By playing it deadpan, Morgan has succeeded in kidding the diapers off the sprawling child. In his Friday show (NBC, 9 p. m.) Morgan maintains a grave demeanor in presenting his screwy finds to the world. He now adopts professional deportment where he used to play Peck's delinquent, and allows the basic trends in his medium to caricature themselves.

In the last Morgan show I caught, the credits read something like this: "Misdirection by so-and-so. Technical stuff by so-and-so. Indian nuts sold in lobby."

And strikingly, "Henry Morgan is not a puppet." His guests in this particular program were a man who played a rubber glove (and very well, too) and who also performed simultaneously on the clarinet and saxophone; a man who made a hobby of spelling all words backward, and pronouncing them hind-end-to; also, a Cossack dancer from Brooklyn who flipped flaming daggers from his mouth, and a wonderful dog named Bruiser.

Bruiser was a Mexican Chihuahua, about the size and weight of a bar of soap. His specialty was howling in righteous indignation while two comely maidens harmonized (you should excuse the expression) to "Tennessee Waltz" (you should excuse the perversion of the word waltz).

Delta Employs 260 Teachers

Third Highest Among Counties In U. P.

Public school districts in Delta county employ a total of 260 teachers, third highest in any Upper Peninsula county, it is revealed by Miss Margaret Stevenson, state director of the National Education Association in Michigan.

Of the total 260 teachers in Delta county 121 are employed in Escanaba city schools and 34 in the public schools of Gladstone, with the remaining 105 teaching in rural school districts in the county.

Marquette county leads the Upper Peninsula with 330 teachers and Houghton county is second with 297.

NEA affiliated teachers were most heavily registered in Chippewa county. The Soo area was given credit for 137 enrollments, a listing far in excess of all other Upper Michigan counties.

According to the compilation, the State of Michigan had 36,877 teachers on Dec. 31, 1950. Of this number, 11,976 were members of the NEA.

The complete teaching roster for the 15 northern peninsula counties follow:

Stephenson Teacher Author Of Article

Mrs. Judith Morton, Stephenson teacher, wrote an article, "A Course in Baby-Sitting," about Stephenson school's system of training boys and girls scientifically to watch over children at night. The article was published in the Michigan Education Journal for February.

Mrs. Morton's well-illustrated article tells why and how the two-year-old course was organized for seventh-grade girls and what benefits they have received from it. Her teacher also tells how seventh-grade boys worked out a home economics course for themselves at the same time.

Novel Written By Warren Beck

Appleton Author Has Spoken Here

Warren Beck, professor of English at Lawrence college, is the author of a novel, "Into Thin Air," which is being released from the press today by Alfred Knopf, New York.

It is Beck's third novel, "Final Score," which won the Friends of American Writers award, appeared in 1944 and "Pause Under the Sky," in 1947. He is also the author of three books of short stories—"The Blue Sash," "The First Fish," and "The Far Whistle." The latter will come from Antioch press this spring.

Stories by Beck have appeared in the Best American Short Story collection for the years 1939, 1943, 1945 and 1950. He has held a Rockefeller foundation fellowship, has been on the summer staff of the Breadloaf School of English, Middlebury, Vt., and in 1945 taught at the United States Army university at Shrinvenham, England. Beck has been on the Lawrence staff since 1926.

Beck's writing has been called "a master of the in-the-round characterization of background, scene and the shadings of personal relationships."

Time magazine recently published a highly complimentary piece concerning Beck's literary ability. He has spoken before several Escanaba organizations and some years ago served on the Nahma Vacation School faculty.

Labor And Management Work Together For Mutual Benefit

THE Escanaba Chamber of Commerce has reactivated its labor-management relations committee as another measure to preserve the harmony which has existed in industries in this area.

While there have been some work stoppages in local industries in the past, the loss has been insignificant over a long period of years when compared with the experience of other communities.

Objective of the C. of C. committee is to create a spirit of harmony and understanding between representatives of industrial concerns and labor groups. It is intended to produce a better climate for the discussion of mutual problems, thereby effecting the correction of unsatisfactory conditions before they develop into excuses or reasons for strikes.

The committee is considering a plan to have certain days set aside for visits to industries by families of employees.

Another suggestion being given consideration is the introduction of labor-management relation courses in the high schools. This plan has much merit.

Eventually, students will take their places in industry either with management or in the ranks of labor. There is opportunity to develop clear and fair thinking on labor-management problems at an early age in the schools.

It should be possible to present these problems in an unbiased manner. The lesson has to be learned somewhere and sometime.

Highway Maintenance Better In U. P.

DESPITE heavy snow and sleet storms, highways in the Upper Peninsula have been maintained for travel with scarcely any interruption this winter.

Visiting motorists from Wisconsin, Illinois and other states are surprised to find such satisfactory driving conditions in this northern region. The explanation, of course, is that the highway department is well prepared with equipment and personnel for such emergencies.

Similarly, the city crews have been keeping Escanaba's streets cleared of snow with trucks and plows. The unusual ice condition Saturday morning was quickly attacked with the application of sand, and within hours the streets were made safe for vehicular and pedestrian traffic.

Sanding operations by both city and state highway department crews are a much appreciated service. It is a public service that doubtless prevents many serious accidents.

This Looks Like Good Idea To Us

REP. CLYDE E. COOPER of White Cloud has come up with an idea in the state legislature down in Lansing that strikes us as being a good one.

Rep. Cooper proposed the other day that the Interstate Commerce commission be asked to require the railroads to put red reflectors on the sides of freight cars.

This is a safety suggestion that appears to have considerable merit. In the past, several serious accidents occurred in the Escanaba area when motorists rammed into freight cars at railroad crossings.

And not all the drivers of these cars were either drunk or careless. It is surprising sometimes how close one can approach a railroad crossing at night without seeing a string of flat, gondola and box cars passing by.

Quite likely most railroads would be glad to install the red reflectors. They are always anxious to promote public safety and the cost would not be exorbitant.

FEED THE HUNGRY!

(Detroit News)

Humanitarian considerations alone should spur Congress to act quickly in providing India with the wheat she needs so desperately if starvation is to be averted among her teeming millions.

As President Truman said when he asked for funds to speed shipment of half of the 2,000,000 tons sought by India, action should be taken without regard for international political differences we may have with Prime Minister Nehru.

India's sore need for food gives us an opportunity to rise above any political considerations and to show, as we have shown so many times in our history, that we are ever ready to help a famine-stricken people.

Resentment lingering in some congressmen's minds over Nehru's refusal to go along with the United States in condemning Red China as an aggressor should have no place in the picture.

In this instance, the only point at issue is a people's hunger. That should be enough to bring prompt action.

We might possibly return to eating horse meat again, but rest assured this country is never going to the dogs.

Rev. Patrick McArron

THE death of Father Patrick McArron, pastor of St. Joseph's church in Escanaba, saddens the hearts not only of St. Joseph parishioners but of the entire Escanaba community. First as assistant pastor and later as pastor of St. Joseph's church, Father Patrick developed countless friends in Escanaba.

His kindness and gentle disposition, his zealous devotion to Christian ideals and his sage leadership of one of the community's largest parishes earned for him the love and respect of the Escanaba people, Catholic and Protestant alike.

In recent months, Father Patrick was in very ill health but until he was disabled by the stroke that finally took his life, he uncomplainingly carried his burden and continued to fulfill his many duties. Most of his own parishioners were unaware of the serious illness of their pastor until he was disabled by the stroke.

They Preach Economy But Won't Do Cutting

AS in former years, some Washington lawmakers are saying no new taxes should be voted until substantial cuts are made in President Truman's $71.6 billion budget. But the sad fact is that then there would be no new taxes. For Congress talks of real economy but never votes it.

There is nothing new in this threadbare old story. The average congressman or senator shouts for budget reductions until they threaten to become a reality. Thereupon he moves to block them, for fear that his own state or district will somehow suffer from the pruning.

There is supposed to be political advantage in going through these foolish motions. But it's a great mystery how there can be any vote-getting value in a transparent performance that has been exposed again and again as completely insincere.

The other day Frederick Lawton, director of the budget bureau, discussed this business with the tax-framing House ways and means committee. He told the group frankly that he gets much more pressure from lawmakers to increase budget items than to cut them.

In one three-month period, he said, he had received requests from 200 congressmen to put new projects into the budget or boost existing items. That means nearly 40 per cent of all members of Congress were heard from in this fashion.

A couple of years ago Mr. Truman tried to reduce the veterans' hospital program by 16,000 beds, citing authoritative statements that they weren't really necessary at this time. Did Congress welcome this chance to save? On the contrary, it insisted that the added hospitals be built.

When former defense secretary Louis Johnson wielded the axe in his department to slice away 135,000 civilian jobs, the lawmakers were horrified. But their concern was not for the effect this might have on the national security. It was for the fact that many of those jobs were scattered about the nation in this own districts.

Once a federal program is established, it is extremely difficult ever to abolish it. It spells money and jobs, and no one closely tied to those benefits will yield them easily.

So about the only way we can have genuine economy now is for the president and his budget officials to exercise strict restraint in the launching of new programs. If programs are needed, they should not be padded in the expectation that Congress will trim them.

It will probably always be thus until the lawmakers become convinced that they are not cutting their own throats by voting economies which affect their own areas.

Here and there signs have developed which may lead in that direction. Some House members are getting mail from people who urge an end to benefits they now personally receive. But it's hardly a trend yet.

Meantime, the biggest savings for the public might result from Congress resolving not to waste its time and energy debating economy that it doesn't intend to practice.

Spoiler

There should be a law against a very special kind of pest, whose continued line of gabbing everybody must detest. He's the guy who likes to be the first to go and see a play, or to rush to view a movie at an early matinee. Then he seeks his friends and tells them all the details of the plot, and for such a crime, you're sure that he should lawfully be shot.

When he first would tell you everything he witnessed at the show, you politely say you think that it is time for you to go. But he follows right along to tell you just what you will see, though you then insult him plenty in the hope that he will flee. He must spoil your entertainment, telling everything he knows, and it's seldom that he fails to do the job before he goes.

It's the same with all the books you read—he scans them long before, and his yen to tell you everything can make you plenty sore. If you're midway through a mystery, there's much he would reveal—who it was who done the dirty deed, ignoring your appeal. So when lists are made of heels who are considered quite the worst, it's the guy who always tells you all you'd like to name the first.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The politics-ridden Reconstruction Finance corporation is hoping that another of its juicy deals will not make headlines. It's the story of a loan to a jukebox manufacturer in President Truman's home town, Kansas City.

Though the jukebox business is not considered one of the stanchest pillars in our national economy, the RFC, on Jan. 23, 1947, loaned $1,500,000 to the Aireon Corp., of Kansas City, of which the taxpayers will now get back about $700,000. The other $800,000 of the taxpayers' money went down the drain.

One interesting thing about this deal is that the latter part of it was concluded even while the news headlines were sizzling over the Fulbright report about two weeks ago.

Another interesting thing is that the liquidation of the Aireon Jukebox company in Kansas City was turned over to a man in Worcester, Mass. Just why an auctioneer in Worcester, Mass., Aaron Krock, should be picked to liquidate a company in Kansas City is hard to understand. But this may be the explanation: Auctioneer Krock is a former neighbor of RFC Vice Chairman C. Edward Rowe, whose dealings both in and out of the RFC have come in for senatorial fire.

Here is the inside story of Aireon, which smells of politics from beginning to end: Eight months after the RFC advanced it $1,500,000 in 1947, Aireon went bankrupt. About three years dragged by. Finally, with the outbreak of the Korean war, other manufacturers showed interest in a possible war plant, particularly the Starrett Television company. It was the Democratic national committee which put the Starrett company in touch with the RFC, through RFC Director Wiltier Dunham.

After this contact was made, Starrett television seemed to have a fairly easy time closing a deal with the RFC to buy the Aireon jukebox plant for $700,000—though another bidder, New England Industries, Inc., had offered $770,000. Significantly RFC didn't even bother to check Starrett's Dun & Bradstreet rating, though the other bidders were carefully checked.

TAX FRAUDS

This oversight was unfortunate, for it turned out that Starrett's owner, Jacob Freidus, was under indictment for income-tax frauds aggregating nearly a quarter of a million dollars; that the vice president, Larry Knoch, had a criminal record for bankruptcy violations; and that the former president, Murray Daniels, also had a criminal record. The RFC also discovered—too late—that Starrett Television corporation had falsified its financial statements.

Yet despite these shocking discoveries, the RFC hedged for a month before rescinding its contract with Starrett. Finally it did so only under pressure from the Senate investigators.

This should have ended the political wire-pulling. Yet the RFC turned right around and hired Rowe's friend, Aaron Krock, to auction off the Aireon facilities. In doing so, the RFC by-passed its own liquidation division for no apparent reason other than to entitle Krock to a fat fee.

In the end, however, it appears that Krock did a good job. He brought in $732,760 purchase price. Even with the extra $250,000 expected from the lease, the total recovery is a far cry from the original $1,500,000 loan made by the RFC.

Note—Chief credit for uncovering "influence and favoritism" in the RFC goes to Sen. Bill Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, who tried to get President Truman to houseclean the RFC. He had made the mistake, however, of having urged one Harry Truman to resign after the November elections went against him in 1946. Fulbright's advice, since then, is bitterly resented by aforesaid Harry Truman.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. Please, just what is meant by the term "I. Q."?

A. The letters stand for "intelligence quotient," and denote the intelligence of a person in relation to the average for his age; that is to say, it is the child's mental age divided by his actual age. For example if a child of 10 has a mental age of 10, his I. Q. is 1, usually expressed as 100. If his mental age is equal to that of the average 12-year-old, his I. Q. is 1.2, usually expressed as 120. Hence, a 10-year-old child with a mental age of 8 years has an I. Q. of only 80.

The term moron denotes a dull, stupid person. Pronounce it: MOE-rah-n. Psychologists classify the feeble minded thus:

1. The idiot, who can neither speak intelligently nor attend to the simplest affairs of life (mental age, 2 years); 2. The imbecile is higher in intelligence (mental age, 7) but cannot do any useful work. 3. The moron whose mental age is about 12 years, is limited in intelligence, but can perform useful tasks if supervised.

Q. What is meant by the term "White Russia"—T. D.

A. White Russia is one of the republics of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. It is located on the western extremity of the U. S. S. R., with Poland on the west and the Ukraine on the south. The Reference Department of the Library of Congress, through the Curator of the Slave Room, reports that: "The origin of the terms 'White Russia' and 'White Russians' is difficult to trace, and all explanations which have come to our attention are more or less of a speculative character."

Atom-Built Richland Changes 'Boom Town' to 'Home Town'

STREET SCENE IN ATOM TOWN: Richland has grown so fast in seven years it has a trailer village for the overflow. But the town has no slums, and bicycles are the biggest hazard.

By FRED ZAVATTEO

RICHLAND, Wash. —(NEA)—"When I found out I was working in an atom factory, I started packing," said an early employee of the Hanford Works at Richland. "But I missed the bus," he added. "Now it would take an atom bomb to make me leave."

The pioneer plutonium worker's attitude explains why Richland has gone from a "boom town" to a "home town" in seven short years. Nobody wants to leave.

On the Columbia River in southeastern Washington, it is the housing community for the workers and their families who operate the Hanford Works. The plant is the only one in the U. S. producing the nuclear fuel, plutonium, on an industrial scale.

Richland has grown from an original population of 250 to more than 24,000. But not without some pains; the residents had to be convinced that atomic energy was here to stay and Richland was, too.

The workmen also had to be convinced they wouldn't suffer some weird disease and disappear in a mushroom cloud of smoke. When they were shown that the accident rate in Hanford was lower than in the average business office, most of them lost their fears.

Awesome sights of atom workers dressed in protective clothing have appeared in popular magazines.

"The most dangerous thing in Richland is the bicycle," one clerical worker complains. "Children here graduate from baby buggies to bicycles. It's a wonder they learn to walk."

As prime contractor to the U. S. Atomic Commission, the General Electric Co. took over the operation of the plutonium plant and Richland from E. I. du Pont de Nemours, Inc., in 1946.

But the government owns the 620 square miles where the Hanford Works and Richland are built, and no one can own any land or his own home. G. E. acts as the landlord for 6000 government houses, all the land and half the business buildings.

"It's a job we wish somebody else had," one company official complains. "The men don't like to have their boss as their landlord. And G. E. doesn't like to meddle in the men's private affairs."

"During the war, when things were handled Army style, through channels, some of the wives expected the company to bawl their husbands out for getting home late to dinner."

Richland is politically peaceful. It has no elective officials. The city is operated by a Community Manager appointed by the company. A community council, while it has no authority, acts as advisor to the community manager.

Chief of Police H. W. Strock's biggest job is enforcing security regulations. "We've had only a handful of customers for our new jail," the chief said. "And they were only overnight guests."

Only a few native Richlanders are left in the community, but many new ones have joined their ranks since 1943. The city has one of the highest birthrates in the nation—well over 20 per cent higher than the national average. "This is an ideal place to raise children," one mother said. "They have plenty of room to play and lots of friends. Best of all, there are no slums."

Richland's churches and social organizations have grown and invested in buildings. Sixteen church organizations have started a construction program that will cost more than a million dollars in the next few years. There are more than 300 social and recreation clubs.

"Everybody belongs to something," one commission member remarked. "A few people get too ambitious. One man was president or vice-president of 21 clubs. He almost had a nervous breakdown trying to get from one meeting to the other."

The single workers have not been forgotten. Unmarried men and women live in separate dormitories attractively decorated. "Nobody seems to stay single very long," one young stenographer said. "I've had three different roommates in six months. I'm getting married next month myself."

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

BUDGET MINDED—Everybody is becoming budget-conscious. Husbands are limiting themselves to not more than a pack of cigarettes a day and their wives are st-re-ich-ing the food budget by using low-cost, high-nutrition groceries.

This food budget reduction process has gotten out of hand in one household, a friend reports.

"I got home after a hard afternoon at the bowling alley," he complained, "to find my wife had fixed up a budget special. It was goulash, she said. There was a lot of low-cost rice and a faint coloring of tomato. Here and there were little round disks of meat. It was a weiner. One weiner. We have five people in our family."

Red meat may be expensive but there isn't much to take its place, he said sadly.

CHOP-FALLEN—Many a family in these days of mounting food prices is confronted with meat-stretchers at the table. Steak is something the rich man buys and the poor man looks at through the glass in the counter.

They are putting on extra help in most of the meat stores these days. They are hiring boys with mops to keep the floor dry in front of the meat counter. Poor but hungry customers are the cause of the puddles. They stand around drooling.

And can you remember the days when the butcher, after weighing his hand with the round steak, would have a twinge of conscience and toss in a couple of soup bones free of charge?

There was enough meat on those soup bones to make goulash for a week. And in those days a weiner was something to take on a picnic only because it could be toasted over an open fire.

BONES FOR THE DOG—Once upon a time the butcher would give Junior ten or fifteen pounds of old soup bones for the family dog.

Now if the dog gets a bone it is one that is strictly bone, completely devoid of meat. Even the gristle has been carefully removed to add to the conglomerate in the cereal-padded cold meat loaf. The dog bones have the appearance of something left over for a long time after somebody cleaned out a crypt in the catacombs.

Small wonder, therefore, that both the dog and his master are in bad temper. They go around snapping and growling, looking for solid food and receiving sparing handouts of low-cost budget-stretchers.

NOT HER FAULT—For the sake of the record let it be stated that the current high cost of living is serious business to the average housewife, who must feed her family wisely and well.

Mother would like to sink her teeth in a steak as well as would any other member of the family. But she knows that a steak dinner will put the week's food budget in the red—and she doesn't have the unlimited taxing power or the deficit spending inclination you'll find in Washington.

So for that reason she liberally breads the pork chops, adds cheese to the low-cost meat dishes, and tries to make food nutritious as well as palatable.

OUR DAILY BREAD—The time has come for many Americans when the latest report from Washington, citing the deplorable poverty of the starving Armenians, leaves them deeply disinterested.

Granted that America has the highest standard of living in the world, produces more food than it can consume, and is capable of shipping millions of tons of government-purchased foodstuffs to India.

But John Q. Public, whose pay hasn't yet caught up with his higher tax and food bill, will express small sympathy for Indians who won't even butcher one of their sacred critters for food.

The moral is, however, that John should not snap at his wife. He will do more good calling upon his congressman and senator to reduce non-essential government spending, leaving John some change to apply on the family food budget.

Too Much Work Loaded On General Eisenhower

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON—So much is demanded of General Eisenhower both at home and abroad, pressures are being applied here that tend to force him into the role of politician rather than soldier.

On the one hand are those who want to pin him down on the number of American troops to be sent to Western Europe and the ratio of American sea and air power to be committed to that area. This now has become a partisan political issue.

To get Eisenhower on the record on that one might serve a partisan purpose in the not-too-distant future. If for any one of several reasons, most of them beyond his control, the policy of rebuilding Europe's strength should fail, then he would be tagged with failure. Quite apart from political considerations, a commander going into the field to assume an extremely difficult command should be allowed the kind of flexibility that Ike wants.

B. Load On "Ike"
On the other hand, because the European program depends for its acceptance on Eisenhower's popularity and prestige, the Truman administration has tended to let far too large a share of the burden fall on him. The effect is to prod him into "selling" the policy. Granted that he is a superb salesman, this is a distortion of his real function, which is to carry out in the field a hazardous undertaking. The very fact of this distortion, and particularly if he is drawn deeper into a political dispute, may compromise his effectiveness.

His own desire is to return to Europe and get on with the job as quickly as possible. His sense of timing tells him that it is imperative to start building a concrete organization at once while hope and enthusiasm are still in the first flush. The Europeans, whom he did so much to encourage and inspire, would never understand delay.

The example of France illustrates this very well. Prime Minister Rene Pleven returned to Paris from his successful Washington visit prepared to take the series of bold steps that he outlined in talks with American officials.

Proposes Electoral Reform
At the outset Pleven intends to bring about passage of a constitutional reform law that will end the system of proportional representation that today results in such a false allocation of the seats in Parliament.

Under a law reflecting France's true divisions, the Communists would be cut down to fewer than 50 seats. Parties on the right, conspicuously the De Gaulleists, would come up.

With such a change Pleven's own government, as he candidly explained to President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson, may not be returned to office in new elections. But he faced this prospect philosophically, believing that the primary step of electoral reform is essential for the creation of a solid political base on which French military strength can be rebuilt.

It was the quality of solid, unemotional determination to do what was right and necessary that impressed everyone who met with Pleven during his brief stay. He in turn talked out the current resolution and hope which Eisenhower stirred on his visit to the capitals of the North Atlantic treaty nations. In his visit with the French prime minister Ike had talked about the greatness of France's past and the need for Frenchmen to recall the days when they had overthrown tyrants and had sent a new rule of freedom coursing through the world. He is the only man, as Pleven put it, who can talk to the French and not anger the Germans and talk to the Germans and not anger the French.

Must Know French
But now that Pleven is about to embark on a program that will be unpopular in many quarters, he is going to want to know that the work of putting together a unified defense command for the West is progressing as rapidly as possible. It is just here that Eisenhower's return to Europe at the earliest possible moment is seen to be so important. The initial persuasiveness of that first quick visit can wear thin if it is not followed up.

At the same time, however, it is true that in this country the enthusiasm of the response to his confident resolute report on his European inspection trip may wear off with the passage of time. Opponents of the policy may be counting on this as they raise fresh doubts about details of the European program.

Separate hearings on the respective powers of the president and Congress in this matter are beginning. They may serve a useful purpose in shedding additional light on the relationship between the reality of Soviet imperialism and fundamental law and its interpretation in our own constitutional system. But Eisenhower has no further role in this debate. As commander, he should return to Europe to do the task for which he is so well qualified.

Millionaire Oilman's Daughter Takes Job As Messenger Girl

HOUSTON—(P)—The 18-year-old daughter of Houston millionaire and oilman Glenn McCarthy is in the oil business herself—running messages for Humble Oil & Refining Co. here.

Humble officials said that Glenna Lee—now Mrs. George Pontikes—had applied for a job in the usual manner and had been hired the same way. They said she carries messages from office to office and tells workers when there is someone in the waiting room to see them.

Glenna Lee and Pontikes—Rice Institute football player—eloped to Waco and got married by a justice of peace last Dec. 2. The secret marriage was not announced until several weeks later.

Sons Of Fifty Generals Are Fighting In Korea

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — About the only "break" you get in the Army if you're the son of a general is a chance to get into combat quickly.

U. S. Army generals have 50 sons fighting in Korea, including nine who have died there and four who have been wounded. There are 23 more sons of generals presently assigned to the Far East command who can expect combat assignment in Korea any day.

Probably the most famous father-son fighting team was the late Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the 3rd Army, and Capt. Sam Walker. Gen. Walker was killed in an auto accident on his way to decorate his son.

Maj. Gen. Hobart R. Gay, commander of the First Cavalry Division in Korea, has a son, 1st Lt. Hobart R. Gay, Jr., who is an F-80 jet pilot assigned to the 49th fighter-bomber group stationed in Korea. Young Gay has flown many missions in close tactical support of his dad's cavalry division. They saw each other for the first time in several years last Thanksgiving day in the front line.

The father-son tradition in the Army has grown fast since World War II. Since Pearl Harbor there have been 475 generals on active duty at one time or another. They have contributed 612 sons to some period of service during that time. In World War II, 76 sons of generals were casualties.

In earlier U. S. history, Gen. U. S. Grant had a son and grandson who made general officer rank. Famed Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee was a son of the equally famous Gen. "Light Horse" Harry Lee of Revolutionary War fame. Gen. Douglas MacArthur is the son of Lt. Gen. Arthur MacArthur.

Highest ranking general to lose a son killed in Korea is Lt. Gen. Thomas B. Larkin, famed supply and communications expert of World War II. His son, 1st Lt. Harrison Larkin was killed in an aircraft crash. Among other generals who have lost sons in Korea are Brig. Gen. David H. Blakelock, Lt. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, Gen. Eisenhower's chief of staff in Europe, has two sons in service. One was wounded in World War II, the other in Korea. Maj. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey also has two sons in service, one of whom is in Korea; so does Maj. Gen. Albert C. Smith.

Reason given for the high rate of father-son combinations among the general officer ranks in the U. S. Army is the high prestige put on having West Point as an alma mater in an Army officer's family. Most of the sons are officers. No general has a son in the enlisted ranks serving in Korea.

Delta Youth Is Fined At Menominee

A Delta county youth who bought gas early Sunday morning in Birch Creek and drove away before paying was fined $25 and paid court costs of $25 in Menominee today.

Beaudry this morning also was ordered to make restitution of $2.75 for the gasoline. Two other youths, both 18, who were with Beaudry, were picked up early Sunday morning while they were hitchhiking on U. S.-41 by Sheriff Edward Reindl of Menominee. They were lodged in Menominee county jail for the night. No charge was made against Beaudry's companions.

Two Denver Clubs Burned; Six Dead

The swank Wolhurst Saddle Club south of here was razed yesterday by a blaze which took two lives. Four persons died in a fire at the Denver Athletic Club in downtown Denver Saturday afternoon.

Killed in the Wolhurst clubhouse, which had housed royalty, gamblers and one United States president, were Bob Snell, 37, a cook, and Tamie Kaku, 64, a dishwasher. Two persons were injured.

Police Department Plans School For Training Recruits

Plans are underway in the Escanaba police department for conducting a training school which all new employees on the police force will be required to attend for six weeks, G. S. Leonard, safety director, said today.

Seventeen men have applied for patrolmen posts in the city police department and have taken Civil Service tests now are being graded by the Michigan Municipal League at its Ann Arbor offices.

The top six men qualifying under Civil Service will be considered when three of four new patrolmen are hired here.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has agreed to assist in conducting the six-week recruit school here. The safety director also plans to have state police, attorneys and court officers participate in instruction of new patrol officers.

Under the new set-up, all recruits will attend class for four hours in the afternoon and patrol with police officers for four hours at night. The 173-hour course will require six weeks for completion.

The police department no longer hires special policemen and will not hire extra, untrained help during vacation periods.

The recruit school will be separate from the refresher classes offered from time to time for full-fledged police officers. However, any police officer may attend the recruit sessions if he desires.

As planned, the recruit school will provide instruction and training in police department rules and policies, duties of police officers, police defense tactics, use of police equipment, police psychology, public relations, first aid, radio and patrol, use of pistols and firearms, photography, identification, traffic policy, liquor laws, civil disturbances, motor vehicle law and accident investigation, court procedures, ordinances, juvenile offenders, laws of arrest and search and seizure, criminal law and rules of evidence, interrogation and cooperating agencies.

Government Lifts Ban On Copper For Water Pipes

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government today lifted its ban on the use of copper for water systems in homes after March 1.

At the same time it banned or limited the use of copper after April 1 in more than 50 other products — among them coffee makers, home and farm freezers, waffle irons, and refrigeration and air conditioning equipment.

The products in which copper is newly limited or banned are in addition to more than 200 announced previously.

Railway Strike Threatens Britain

LONDON — (AP) — Fifty million Britons, already shivering through a winter of too little coal and not enough meat, awoke today to the new crisis of a threatened national railway strike.

The rail walkout began shortly after midnight in Manchester, where 3,500 freight handlers had stopped work in protest against a proposed five per cent wage increase they considered too small. Other rail unions made plans to join them.

Only five freight handlers reported for work in the heavily industrialized Manchester area after the strike decision. Another 11,000 members of the National Union of Railwaymen—engineers, firemen, signalmen, guards and porters—have promised to join the walkout at midnight.

He left his entire estate to the University of Illinois. Miller, 87, when he died Feb. 10, was a familiar figure on the campus. He dressed plainly. He often ate with students in the Illinois union cafeteria. Not even his intimates knew of his wealth.

$900,000 Bond Issue Is Needed For Water Plant

A bond issue of $900,000 instead of $800,000 will be needed to finance construction of a new water filtration plant in Escanaba, Paul Johnson, engineer for Consoer Townsend & Associates of Chicago Saturday advised city councilmen at an adjourned meeting.

Johnson who represents the firm which prepared plans and specifications for the filter plant here, urged the Escanaba council to pass its bond ordinance at the regular meeting March 1, in order that sale of bonds may be advertised in April.

The Consoer engineer, who presented a detailed analysis and tabulation of the three bids submitted on the project, declared it urgent that the council proceed immediately, because of high prices and the possibility that materials and equipment, now in short supply, may be subjected to government controls.

Bond Issue Required
The Pearson bid for $799,548 was accepted by the council Saturday and tentative award was made to Pearson Construction company, Benton Harbor, Mich.

Other bidders were Proksh construction company of Iron River and Bass Construction of Birmingham, Mich. The Proksh bid was $889,000 and the Bass bid was $949,480. None of the bids included engineering and legal fees nor cost of construction of a water main to North Escanaba. These will cost about $100,000.

Johnson outlined savings totaling several thousands of dollars which can be made by substituting equipment of equal or better efficiency which is available in some instances at lower costs than itemized in the Pearson bid.

In accepting the bid of the Benton Harbor firm, the council stipulated that awarding of the contract is contingent on passage of a bond ordinance here and issuance and sale of bonds to finance the project.

The council included in its resolution a provision that in event the council is unable to formally award the water plant contract to Pearson Construction company within the 60 days required by law, the city of Escanaba is not liable for any damages which may accrue to Pearson Construction company.

The latter provision was included to protect the city in event bonds can not be sold, or in the event that residents petition for a referendum on the bond proposal. Thirty days must elapse after passage of a bond ordinance, to permit citizens to petition if they so desire.

450 Days To Build
"The City of Escanaba was saved about $100,000 when Pearson Construction company submitted its bid," the Consoer engineer said Saturday. He pointed out that the Pearson bid closely approximates the amount which Consoer estimated last October, allowing for trending upward due to increased cost of labor and materials.

In its bid, the Pearson Construction company states it will start within 50 days and complete the project in 450 calendar days.

Last October Consoer, Townsend estimated the Escanaba filter plant would cost $713,341.05. The city of Escanaba submitted the proposal to build a filter plant to a vote of electors here last spring, and the issue was approved by over 80 per cent of the voters.

When first proposed, the city believed the filter plant, to replace the dilapidated unit now in use would cost $750,000. Later $50,000 was added to cost estimates to provide for a water main in North Escanaba.

"The Pearson bid must be accepted within 60 days after it is opened," A. V. Aronson told councilmen Saturday. The city manager pointed out that delay in accepting the bid and getting construction of a new plant started would be disastrous for the city.

The city hopes to sell revenue bonds to finance the filter plant at a lower interest rate than the 2 1/4 per cent used in estimating costs earlier.

The resolution accepting the Pearson bid and tentatively awarding the contract to Pearson Construction company was unanimously adopted by the city council Saturday.

Death Notice Unites Brothers And Sister, Separated 37 Years

DETROIT — (AP) — Separated 37 years, two brothers and a sister were reunited today because of newspaper death notices.

Walter Mills, 42, and his brother Wilfred, 44, didn't know they had a sister until recently. Mrs. Viola Rutenbar, 37, knew she had two brothers but had no idea where to find them.

When the three, all born in New Brunswick, finally got together, they found that Walter and Viola were living less than a mile apart in Detroit. Wilfred lives in Brown City, Mich.

The story started in Fredrickton, N. B., when Clarence E. Mills and his wife separated in 1914.

The boys stayed with their father but Viola, only a few weeks old, went with her mother to Harrisville, Mich., and later to Royal Oak. The brothers, who never were told that they had a sister, eventually moved to Michigan, too.

A few weeks ago Walter saw a notice of the death of a maternal aunt, and was astonished to see a niece listed among the survivors. He learned the sister's address—scarcely a stone's throw from his own home—and went to call on her Thursday.

Truman May Have To Take Hand In Wage Board Tiff increases to 10 per cent above January 15, 1950 levels until July 1—must be acted on by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston.

That left the administration two openings for calming labor's ruffled feathers, without the personal intervention of Mr. Truman. These alternates were:

1. Johnston may soften the wage board's formula to make it more palatable to the labor spokesmen. However, such a way out might prove too costly.—The industry or public members might resign from the board with the protest that they couldn't agree to Johnston's decision. While Johnston has authority to fix a formula, he delegated it to the wage board.

2. Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson already has invited the leaders of the ULPC to name one of their number for a top-level advisory post at his side. That's what they have been clamoring for. But the manner in which the invitation was made and announced was clouded so that the labor chiefs wanted a good look at the offer before committing themselves.

Cornonation ceremonies Saturday night climaxed three days of skating, skiing and other winter sports events held under the direction of the Upper Peninsula Winter Sports Council.

Primary Voting Light For Today

Few Hot Issues In County Balloting

(By The Associated Press)
A generally light vote was expected around the state today in scattered county primaries.

There were few hot issues and many candidates were running without opposition.

Most of the elections will pick candidates for supervisors, township officers, and justices of the peace.

However one heated fight was in prospect at Dearborn, where colorful Mayor Orville L. Hubbard predicted a turnout of 20,000 voters and said that number would assure his victory. Officials of a citizens committee which started the recall proceedings estimate between 15,000 and 25,000 may vote on the lively issue.

In Ann Arbor township voters also will ballot on a whether to buy land and additional fire-fighting equipment and build a new fire station to cost $28,000.

A school millage proposal is expected to draw from 25,000 to 30,000 voters in Grand Rapids. That number would be better than the usual February election but short of the all-time record of 46,000 cast in last year's primary.

He is widely known in the Copper Country as the author of "Trouble Shooter," story of a northwoods prosecutor, and he has written articles for the Atlantic Monthly, the Saturday Review of Literature and other magazines. He is a life-long resident of Ishpeming, is married, and the father of three children.

old storm sewer. Holmes took odd bits of clothing and stuffed them into the crevices of the hollow—about six feet high and three feet long—to reinforce the walls and overhead against cave-ins. Then he started digging again.

Once under the wall that extended 10 feet deep, Holmes angled sharply up, 30 feet away. The tunnel emerged in a sodded area between the main wall and a seven-foot guard fence. A hop over this fence, and he melted into the pre-dawn darkness without an immediate trace.

President Favors Single RFC Boss

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today asked Congress to put the Reconstruction Finance corporation under a single administrator.

Under the reorganization plan submitted to the two houses, the big government lending agency would continue "as a separate entity in the executive branch of the government."

The president's plan provides for the abolition of the present five-member board of directors whose names he resubmitted to Congress only a few days ago.

In his message, the president said he plan gives the single administrator the functions of the present board except for some duties specifically assigned to a new loan policy board and to a board of review.

Klein Captures Rio Grande Open

HARLINGEN, Tex. — (P) — (C) Klein, methodical Charles (Chuck) Klein of San Antonio bagged his first major golf championship yesterday when he won the $10,000 Rio Grande valley open with 269 for 72 holes.

Texas has been hogging tournament golf for years and even at this time, Lloyd Mangrum, the Lone Star starter who registers out of Chicago, leads the money-winning parade. But Mangrum and his Texas colleagues were lost in the shuffle as Klein lumbered in with a four-under par 67 to capture $2,000 first money.

Par on the 6,995-yard Herlingen municipal course, was bettered 23 times by the final field of 55.

Chuck snatched the lead away from Marty Furgol of Long Beach, Calif., who had led at the end of the third round with 200 for 54 holes as Furgol took an even par 71 and wound up with 271. But it meant second money of $1,400 to Furgol. Finishing third was Al Brosch, the bespectacled veteran from Garden City, N. Y., who had a closing round of 68 and 272 for the 72 holes to win $1,000.

Reducing Expert's 7-Day Diet Takes Off Pounds Without Pair

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's how to slim down for spring—a simple and torturous seven-day diet written for NEA Beauty Editor Alicia Hart by Ann Williams-Heller, noted author and lecturer on reducing. She has written scores of reducing diets in national magazines and a number of books on "Reducer's Cook Book," just published by Wilfred Funk, Inc., includes more than 300 recipes and all simple directions for the weight-watcher in the streamlined kitchen. This is the first two days of her medically-approved diet.

By ANN WILLIAMS-HELLER, Written for NEA Service

Now that spring fashions are blossoming in shop windows and last year's wardrobes are emerging from winter storage, many women are beginning to find their mirrors are their worst enemies.

Perhaps you, too, are discovering the danger signals that indicate extra pounds. If your zipper balks at closing, your belt requires new notches, your skirt bunches and hikes across your hips, it's time to begin a slimming program.

Don't cringe at the idea. Reducing diets need not be the one-lettuce-leaf-a-day torture many women imagine them to be.

You can reduce your weight easily and safely with simple, inexpensive and tasty foods. You can expect to lose at least two pounds a week and perhaps as much as five pounds. You'll lose more if you're considerably overweight or very active or both; and less if your weight is only slightly above par and you lead a quiet life.

First, however, consult your doctor and find that nothing is wrong with you except your extra pounds. Then follow this simple diet.

Eat all the good foods and don't skip any except coffee or tea (if you desire). Scientifically calculated your reducing meals are chock-full of all essential proteins, vitamins and minerals. Yet very low in calories (1100).

Remember: no sugar in beverages and with fruits; no butter or fat with your vegetables. And for your meat and fish, lean is the watchword.

Safety Rules Help Cut Down Toll Of High Blood Pressure

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW YORK—(AP)—In these tense times, watch your blood pressure, cautions Dr. Howard B. Sprague, president of the American Heart Association.

A few safety rules can help guard against high blood pressure and its heavy toll, he says. You owe it to your country to stay well.

Pressure On Again
"The pressure is on again. Business, government and industry are marshalling strength to build the country's defenses," Dr. Sprague writes in the forward of "Your Blood Pressure and Your Arteries," a new public affairs pamphlet by Alexander L. Crosby.

"We are depending on executives and administrators, shop foremen and mechanics to get the job done. The age bracket of leadership—from 32 on—roughly corresponds to the ages when high blood pressure develops."

Crosby lists the safety rules in the pamphlet published today by the non-profit affairs committee (22 E. 38th St., New York City).

Try To Relax
A main one is regular check-ups on the state of your blood pressure, which reflects how hard your life pump has to work. Avoid unnecessary worry. Try not to fly off the handle over simple frustrations. Try to relax, and not be irritable, and don't neglect various physical troubles.

High blood pressure is not a disease, but a sign of trouble, he writes. The difficulty is a narrowing of tiny arteries. The heart has to work harder to pump the blood through them.

High blood pressure isn't just an upper bracket disease, Crosby says. "The vast majority of patients are ordinary people—the day laborer, the semi-skilled man on the assembly line, the bus driver, the housewife, the school teacher and the grocer."

Walk Upstairs
A key rule for the victim of high blood pressure is moderation in living habits, he says. Another is "to do everything your doctor permits—but no more. Keep clear of friction and worries (big and little ones). Get help in solving your worries, or else realize that maybe they stem from things you can't do anything about."

Crosby cites nine general rules for living with high blood pressure:

1. Walk—never run—upstairs.
 2. Quit anything before you get overtired.
 3. Relax or nap twice a day (say a half-hour before lunch and an hour after dinner.)
 4. Eat four or five light meals instead of three heavier ones.
 5. Go easy on coffee (one full cup or two demi-tasses a day) and easy on tobacco (three cigars or 15 cigarettes should be the limit).
 6. If possible, quit work a little early and exercise outdoors for an hour (but avoid competitive sports).
 7. Go to bed well before midnight.
 8. Keep your weight normal.
 9. Argue and worry as little as possible.
- Two things that need not be avoided by victims of high blood pressure are liquor and sex. Dr. Irving Page, research director of the Cleveland Clinic, advises, however, that drinking be done only

Saudi Arabia King Finances Repairs To Tomb Of Mohammed

CAIRO, Egypt—(AP)—King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia announced he will pay the bill for badly needed repairs to the ancient and sacred tomb of Mohammed at Medina, near the Red Sea in his country.

There was no estimate of the cost.

The king's offer put to an end a series of campaigns throughout all Moslem countries for funds to reinforce the 13-century-old structure, which recently has been reported near collapse.

It was built in the seventh century over the spot where Mohammed had preached and where he died.

Thailand To Use Enriched Rice

BANGKOK—(AP)—Thailand, Asia's greatest rice supplier, is to feed its people with enriched rice. Experts from Switzerland are carrying out a survey of the country's total nourishment needs and the extent of undernourishment caused by consumption of polished rice.

Enrichment machinery will be installed at the farmers co-operative society mills, the biggest in Thailand. Thai health officials will determine the different vitamins to be used depending on research results. Rice for export to deficit countries will not be enriched.

between sundown and bedtime. Sexual intercourse benefits the hypertensive when it brings relaxation. But any prolonged sexual excitement that produces tension should be avoided.

X-Ray Shoe Fitting Machines Tested For Danger From Burns

LANSING—(AP)—The State Department of Health reported its agents are checking all fluoroscopic shoe-fitting machines to be sure none of them will give customers and shoe employees over-exposures to x-rays.

The machines which meet the standards are being marked with an official acceptance card.

The department warned, however, that it is not safe to be fitted on the machines more than 12 times a year and more than five seconds at a time.

Over-exposure to x-rays can result in radiation burns, anemia, leukemia and chronic radiation poisoning, the department said.

We Must Be Strong, We Must Sacrifice To Stay Free, Speakers State

"We must be the most powerful nation in the world, we must make sacrifices, we must produce to the best of our ability, we must pay higher taxes, and we must have unity."

This is the price that the United States and its people will have to pay for the preservation of freedom and democracy against Soviet Communism, according to Professor D. B. Varner, of Michigan State College, East Lansing, and R. T. Hartwig, of the state college's extension office in Marquette, who spoke at district farm policy forums here Friday and in Ewen Saturday.

Both speakers declared that the United States is now at war with Soviet Russia which is determined to win the world for its system of living. Russia would rather attack from within but is prepared for a shooting war, they said.

Russia Prepared Although the United States has achieved the highest standard of living in the world under the free enterprise system, we could lose both our system of government and our freedom by unpreparedness, the speakers stated. They cited the vast military establishment which Russia has built, including 175 divisions of trained and well armed troops in European Russia, poised for instant action.

The people of this country, they stated, must accept the responsibility of being the leader of the world's free nations. Sides are now being chosen, the speakers declared, and we must make our side strong, by building up our defenses and by wiping out the poverty and misery which provide breeding spots for Communism.

Not only as a nation but as individuals we must prepare ourselves to resist Soviet aggression, they pointed out. They cited the following points by which individuals can do their part:

Must "Sell" Democracy

We must stop viewing every situation from the angle of personal benefit.

We must learn to appreciate the fact that ours is a competitive system and that no better system of living has ever been devised on earth.

We must endeavor to correct faults of our system and to "sell" the free enterprise and liberty idea to the rest of the world.

We must learn to live and practice democracy at home — in our family life and in our communities.

We must catalogue the Communists: we must know who and where they are and keep track of them.

We must appreciate the value of our individual influence in resisting Communism and preaching the American way of life.

Early Present

The meeting here Friday was held from 10:30 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. in the Lincoln school gymnasium. Approximately 40 representatives from Dickinson, Delta, Menominee, Luce, Mackinac, Chippewa and Schoolcraft counties were present.

Russell E. Horwood, of Chatham, supervisor of the Michigan State College extension service in the Upper Peninsula, introduced the meeting theme in opening remarks.

Both meetings were convened at the request of the Upper Peninsula Extension Advisory board, Patrick Murphy, of Marquette.

Rehearsals For Operetta Begin

'Pioneer's Papoose' To Be Given Mar. 8-9

Stage rehearsals for the Manistique high school operetta, "The Pioneer's Papoose", will commence tonight in the high school auditorium, it is announced by Marvin Frederickson, high school dramatics instructor.

The production, with approximately 30 boys and 50 girls taking part, will be presented in the auditorium on Thursday and Friday evenings, March 8 and 9.

Participants in the operetta will be costumed as Indians. The story is about a tribe of Indians going to war against another tribe. Besides the Indians a pioneer's daughter is involved in the plot, which has a surprise ending.

Five departments of the high school are cooperating in the operetta, and including the cast it is estimated that at least 200 students will have had a part in the presentation. Cooperating groups are the music department under the direction of Mrs. Roger Eisentraut, the dramatics department directed by Frederickson, the band directed by Joseph Giovanni, the art department under the supervision of Miss Marian MacArthur, and the home economics group directed by Mrs. Jerome Hoholik.

Costumes for the operetta are being made by the home economics group and the scenery making is being done by the art department.

Reserved seats will be placed on sale in the near future, it was announced.

Paulin Hits 25; St. Joe Trips Rapid River, 68-42

Don Paulin, lanky, dark-haired St. Joseph high school forward, is a paradox.

He's called "Gabby" by his team mates because he is so quiet. He wasn't supposed to play Saturday night against Rapid River because of a pulled chest ligament. But he insisted on playing so a physician taped his chest. Then he went out and dumped in 25 points as the Trojans trounced Rapid River, 68-42.

He made the first score of the game on the first of his 11 field goals and was especially hot in the third period when he netted five field goals.

As usual, it was a team victory with Pete Kutches hitting 18 points and Jack Courmeene 10. Fred Boddy and Jim Gravelle, the other starters, played their usual fine floor game and their feeding did much to help Paulin's scoring efforts.

Rapid River made a ball game of it for the first quarter and especially the first few minutes, leading 5-2 at one stage of the game. However, St. Joseph came back with nine straight points and was never headed thereafter. After leaving the floor at half time behind 28-9, Rapid River played St. Joseph on almost even terms in the third period, scoring 15 points to 17 for St. Joseph. But in the last period, St. Joseph's margin had been stretched to 32 points at one point despite Coach Tom St. Germain's use of all 12 players on the bench. With three minutes to go, St. Germain sent his first five to the showers. Rapid River made 10 points in the last three minutes.

Gibson Stands Out — For Coach Norman Slough's boys, the work of Dale Gibson and George Anderson was outstanding. Gibson netted 12 points and played a fine floor game throughout. Anderson added nine points.

In the preliminary, Rapid River graders defeated St. Joseph, 32-23 with Jay Huff getting 11 points for the winners and Bill Lancour getting nine for the losers.

St. Joseph winds up its season here Saturday night against St. Paul of Negaunee.

Need Quarterback, Says New OSU Boss

COLUMBUS, O.—(P)—Ten minutes after Wayne Woodrow (Woody) Hayes was appointed Ohio State university's football coach last night, the husky left-hander said:

"I'm looking for a quarterback." The six-foot-one-inch 220-pounder, pilot of Miami university's Redskins the last two years, was the unanimous choice of the Buckeye board of trustees for the job vacated Dec. 9 by Wesley Fesler.

Spring practice isn't scheduled until March 28, but Hayes' mid-winter hunt for a signal caller was understandable. He's strictly a tutor of the "T"—and Ohio has operated from the single wing the last four years.

Hayes was handed a one-year contract at $12,500, a full professorship in physical education, and the right to name his assistants.

His selection put an end to 70 days of guessing and gossiping, and put a damper on a "bring back Brown" boom which had been rolling in high gear for weeks.

Paul E. Brown, current coach of the Cleveland professional champions and boss of the Bucks in 1941, 1942 and 1943, did not apply for the job. However, he appeared for an interview at the request of the university, and his backers were firm in their belief that he'd get the position.

But Hayes was announced as the unanimous choice to be Ohio's 19th grid coach, and its sixth since 1940.

Apparently overjoyed at winning the appointment, Hayes told representatives of 32 newspapers, radio stations and news services:

"I wanted this job badly. I consider it the greatest coaching opportunity in the country. The best high school football in America is played in Ohio, and we should get some good talent to help us along."

Hayes, a Denison university graduate, started head coaching in 1938 at New Philadelphia, Ohio, high school, winning 18, losing 12 and tying one in three years. After a hitch in the navy he went to Denison for three years, winning 19 and losing six. At Miami of Ohio the last two years, he won 14 and lost five. Last season he won nine and lost one—the big victory being over Arizona State in the Salad bowl.

Berger Hits 37 As 'Stique Wins

MANISTIQUE — Dick Berger put on a scoring show here Sunday, chucking in 11 field goals and 15 free throws for 37 points as the Manistique Chevs defeated Cloverland College of Escanaba, 81-56.

In addition to the 15 free throws he made, Berger missed 11 more. Norman Jahn scored 18 points before going out on fouls. Bob Hussey, Manistique high school coach, also had five fouls.

Big Jack Miron, former St. Joseph star who will enroll soon at Vanderbilt university, scored 22 points for the Cloverlands before he fouled out.

The Manistique team plays the Oilers at Munising Tuesday.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

Our sincere apologies to Father Stephen, Coach Tom St. Germain, St. Joseph cagers and fans . . . we went into a complete mental blackout and didn't have a line in Saturday's paper on the St. Joseph-Rapid River game . . . there is no way of explaining how a thing like that happens . . . it just happens and when you discover it, you break out into cold sweats and feel like finding a corner some place and hide in it . . . it won't happen again, we hope!

Truly impressive at Saturday night's game was the moment of silence in memory of Fr. Patrick McArron, pastor of St. Joseph and superintendent of St. Joseph high school, who died Friday . . . Fr. Stephen led the silent prayer . . . St. Joseph high school and its sports department lost an outstanding leader and friend in the loss of Fr. Patrick.

While it is always fun for a team to go through a season undefeated, Nahma's one point loss Saturday night to Trenary may be a good thing for the Arrows, come tournament time . . . now the pressure is off . . . if they had entered the tournament with 16 straight victories, as it appeared last week, they might have folded under tournament pressure . . . now it will be just a tournament, without a winning streak to weight them down.

Eddie Doucette, Vulcan coach, who officiated the St. Joseph-Rapid River game Saturday night, would like to have you believe his "po li'l boys" don't have a chance in tournaments this year . . . all his six-footers have done is win 11 games, including victories over Norway, Hermansville, Florence, Channing, Powers, Felch and Republic . . . they have lost to Norway, Niagara and undefeated Alpha.

Escanaba Hawk fans remember cocky little Johnny Rea of Eagle River who "acted up" in the last game here . . . at Marquette Thursday night, Rea was waved off the ice for boarding by Referee Fred Brunelle . . . when Rea started his acting up again, Brunelle slapped an extra 10-minute misconduct on him . . . then Rea slammed his stick against the boards and swore at the official . . . he was promptly tossed out of the game.

Nahma Beaten But Still Leads Loop

Although Nahma's high riding Arrows were beaten for the first time this season by Trenary Saturday night, no team will be able to overtake them in this, the final week of the regular basketball season. So Coach Harold (Babe) Anderson's boys remain champs of the Central league.

Currently their record is 11 wins and one loss. They have two games this week but only one, Powers at Nahma Friday, will have any bearing on the final standings. Ebn plays at Nahma Wednesday night in a game previously postponed because of a snow storm.

Trenary, in second place, has lost only two games but has only its Friday game at Rapid River left to play. Even if Trenary wins and Nahma loses, Trenary wouldn't have enough points to overtake the Arrows.

And Rapid River, in third place, couldn't overtake Trenary even though Coach Norm Slough's boys won Friday night. Rapid River has lost five league games.

Perkins, holding fourth place, has finished its regular season and cannot be overtaken. Rock, which moved into fifth place over the weekend, has only a non-league game left, playing at Eben Friday night.

Bark River-Harris, which plays at Stephenson tomorrow night, could outdo Rock from fifth by defeating Cooks Friday night. The game will be played at Bark River and the Broncos are undefeated on their own floor.

If Powers, which entertains Vulcan in a non-league game Tuesday night, defeats Nahma on the latter's court Friday night, it could finish in a tie with Rock.

Cooks could move out of the cellar by defeating Bark River. League standings:

	W	L	PTS
Nahma	11	1	917
Trenary	8	2	800
Rapid River	8	5	615
Perkins	6	8	429
Rock	4	8	333
Bark River	2	5	285
Powers	2	6	250
Cooks	3	9	250

Stephenson, Nahma Win Reserve Meet

STEPHENSON — Stephenson in class B-C and Nahma in class D-E are champions of the annual reserve team tournament.

Stephenson won by default Saturday night when Gladstone, other semi-finalist, was unable to put a team on the floor. An epidemic of illness left Gladstone with only four players so Gladstone withdrew.

In the class D-E finals, Nahma took the measure of Rock, 56-44. James Popoure led Nahma with 19 points and John Mercier had 17. High scorer for Rock was James Micheau with 14.

Six Nabbed In New College Cage Fix

NEW YORK — (P) — College basketball was rocked to its foundations today by the second big betting scandal in a month and by disclosure that "fixes" are being investigated on a nationwide scale.

After three members of City College of New York's national tournament champions and three other persons were taken into custody yesterday on bribery charges, there were these swift developments:

1. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said the U. S. senate crime investigating committee has been probing this and similar fixes in other cities. "New York is not an isolated case," he said.

2. Dr. Hugh C. Willett, president of the National Collegiate Athletic association, said the matter is of "great concern" and will be taken up at a meeting of the NCAA council in Chicago March 1.

Admit Accepting Bribes

The three CCNY players are Ed Roman, Ed Warner and Al Roth, stars of the amazing team that swept to the National invitation NCAA championships last year for basketball's first and only "grand slam."

District Attorney Frank Hogan said they admitted accepting up to $1,500 each per game to fix three games played in the Garden. The games were with Missouri, Arizona and Boston college. CCNY lost all three.

Arrested also were Harvey (Connie) Schaff, a substitute on the New York university team; Edward Gard, a Long Island university senior who played last year, and a jeweler, Salvatore Taro to Sollazzo, described by the district attorney as a gambler who inspired the scheme.

One Rejects Offer

Sollazzo and Gard were accused of offering the bribes and the three CCNY players were charged with accepting them.

Schaff was accused of offering a bribe to James Brasco, a NYU teammate, promising Brasco he "could do himself some good" in the St. Francis game Jan. 30 at NYU. Brasco rejected the offer, Hogan said. NYU won, 69-58.

The six men were arraigned last night in a special Sunday night session of Felony court. Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh held Sollazzo without bail. He set bail for Warner, Roman and Roth at $15,000 and for Schaff at $10,000.

Conviction on the charges carry penalties of one to five years in prison and a maximum of $10,000, or both.

The City College players were picked up late Saturday night as they arrived at Pennsylvania station after beating Temple in Philadelphia, 95-71.

Gambler Welches

Each of the three CCNY players received $1,500 for the Missouri game Dec. 9 won by Missouri, 54-37. For the Arizona game Dec. 23, which Arizona won 41-38, each received $1,000, Hogan said.

Hogan declared the agreement on the Boston college game, won by BC Jan. 11, 63-59, was that Roth and Roman were to get $1,500 each and Warner, who had an injured knee, $500.

Roth and Roman got good will bonuses of $500 each for the Washington State game Dec. 14, which City won 59-43, and $250 each for the St. Johns game Jan. 2, in which St. Johns was victor, 47-44. Warner was out with a leg injury during this spread.

Hogan said the players insisted they weren't asked to throw the games but to keep them within the point spread.

Hawks Practice Hit By Soft Ice

A scheduled practice of the Escanaba Hawks tonight has been called off because of soft ice.

If ice conditions improve, the Hawks will entertain the Marquette Sentinels in an important game Wednesday night. The outcome of the game will go a long way toward deciding fourth place in league standings. Four top teams in the league at the end of the season will be in the playoffs. The Hawks now are in fourth place but the Sentinels are within three points.

NAHMA — Nahma's winning streak had an end sometime. And Saturday night was the time.

The Arrows' 14-game win streak was halted by the narrowest of margins—one point—in a wild ball game Saturday night as Trenary nosed out Coach Babe Anderson's boys, 41-40.

The game was a scorcher from start to finish with the lead changing hands several times. At one time, Nahma had a six point lead. But with three minutes to go, Trenary led by six points.

Then Trenary went into a stall. It was effective until the last minute when Nahma broke through twice to score the last field goal by Paul Thibault with only 30 seconds to go.

Refuses Free Throws

In the last three minutes, Trenary refused five free throws in an effort to keep possession of the ball.

Odds High We Can Get Out Of Korea

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—Many Americans today want to know when the United States troops will get out of Korea.
Most soldiers over there are asking that question, too. And some are asking themselves another question: "Can we get out—even if the odds are high?"
There is no public answer yet as to when the United Nations forces will leave Korea. But the answer as to whether they can get out largely intact is: "Yes, the odds are high we can."
Defense leaders have pledged that no enemy force is capable of driving the American Eighth Army into the sea. But several developments might lead to a planned withdrawal from that bitter peninsula. And it could be a perilous operation that would pale Dunkerque in scope.
Full Victory Unlikely
Here are some of the conditions that might lead to a withdrawal.
1. A complete allied victory and the occupation of Korea clear to the Manchurian and Siberian borders. This looks about as likely now as for Joe Stalin to apply for American citizenship.
2. An agreement between China and the United Nations to pull all foreign forces out of the country, leaving the South and North Koreans again glaring at each other across the 38th parallel.
3. Outbreak of war in Europe or elsewhere that might cause America to abandon Korea in order to deploy its ground forces in a more vital area.
4. An all-out million-man attack by the Chinese army that might force the United Nations troops to withdraw from Korea to save itself terrible losses.
Pullout Difficult
In the event of the first two conditions the problem of withdrawal would be simple. But if the pull-out were made under Chinese pressure or to send our troops to another theater, the problem would be tremendous.
Here is why:
One of the most difficult of all operations is for one army to disengage itself successfully from another attacking army—and get away without a big toll in men and equipment. It is triply difficult to get away by sea, for an army is very vulnerable while it is being loaded on ships.
The American army undoubtedly has the mobility and firepower to protect itself against a Chinese foot army if it decides to race back into the old Pusan perimeter, embark and sail away. An umbrella of airpower and the might of U. S. Naval guns give double assurance.
The handicap might not come from the enemy so much as our allies. What would we do with our native allies—the South Korean soldiers, government officials and civilian workers who have served with us? They would ask: "And how about us?"
Can't Abandon ROK's
That is a tremendous query demanding a tremendous reply. For to leave them behind would probably doom tens of thousands to a certain and desperate death.
If the decision had to be made to abandon them to their fate, this would raise an immediate danger of disunity within the United Nations army itself. It consists now of seven American divisions, the equivalent of another division made up of troops from overseas nations, and at least ten South Korean divisions.
What would these South Korean divisions do if they learned they were being left to stand alone? Gallantly fight a rear guard action, throw down their arms and surrendered, or sell out to the Chinese and then turn and attack the allied troops themselves? This is a problem that worries American commanders aware of the Oriental desire to end up on the winning side.
But if the decision were made to take out all who wanted to go the

And we consider it an honor to publish her experience with that amazing time-honored medicine—Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Hardinger writes: "At the age of 18 years, my mother got me a bottle of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me right away to relieve monthly distress due to functional periodic disturbances. At the same time, my mother was going through change of life and she also took the Compound. I am married and am the mother of seven children and three grandchildren. Now I am going through change of life and am taking your Pinkham's Compound to relieve nervous, restless feelings due to this functional cause."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound is famous to relieve monthly distress such as cramps, headache, backache and weak, tired, nervous, restless feelings—when due to female functional monthly complaints. It has such a soothing, comforting effect on one of woman's most important organs,

Mrs. Mary Hardinger
